TREES DEDICATED FOR WAR HEROES

Simple and Impressive Exercises Held in Christ Church Yard.

SERVICE IN CHURCH

Address by Rev. Dr. Morton And Names of Sixty-One Who Served Colors During World War Record

Two memorial Nordmen Firs, memorials to Lieut. George Moncrief Anderton, Company A, 501st Engineers, and Sergeant Major John M. Leadbeater, both of this city, who died during the world war, planted last Wednesday in the east end of historic Christ Church yard were formally dedicated yesterday afternoon in the church yard with appropriate services. The exercises were simple and impressive.

Prior to the dedication memorial services were held in the church and were attended by a large number of persons. The service consisted of prayers, singing of hymns and a short address by the rector, Rev. Dr. W. J. Morton, who read the names of sixty-one men on the church roster who served the colors, among whom were twenty commissioned officers and forty-one non-commissioned officers and privates.

At the services in the church the American and state flags of the Alexandria High School were carried by overseas men who were in Lieut. Anderton's class when he taught in the Alexandria High School.

Attending the exercises were members of the American Legion and fifty wounded soldiers from Walter Reed Hospital, Washington.

Mrs. Thomas W. Robinson, president of the Ladies' Aid Society, of Christ Church, placed the bronze markers on each tree, making a short address as they were placed. The trees are in the east end of the church yard, being on either side of the main walkway in the yard.

The choir sang at the placing of each marker and the sounding of taps and benediction by the rector brought the exercises to a close.

These trees have been registered on the national honor roll of the American Forestry Association, and the bronze markers placed on the trees were designed by the association.

The men from Walter Reed Hospital afterward were entertained at supper served in the parish hall by the Ladies' Aid Society.

Lieut. Anderton died December 9, 1917, and Sergt. Major Leadbeater died May 10, 1918.

CHILD KILLED BY AUTO

Grandmother Seriously Injured—Driver Arrested, But Later Released

A child is dead, and an aged woman seriously injured as the result of an automobile accident at New Jersey avenue and N street northwest, at 9:20 o'clock last night.

Helen Magruder, 12, of 819 L street northeast, and her grandmother, Mrs. Julia Dove, of the same address, were struck by an automobile, driven by Joseph Scalco, 614 Otis street northwest, while they were crossing the street.

The little girl was sent to Sibley Hospital in a passing automobile. She was pronounced dead on her arrival there.

Mrs. Dove was sent to Homeopathic Hospital, where it was ascertained she had received a fractured hip. She may recover.

Following his arrest, Scalco was released by order of Coroner Nevitt, who will hold an inquest at the District morgue this afternoon.

Mrs. Dove and her grandchild were waiting for a street car at the scene of the accident, when Scalco, who, according to the police, was traveling at an excessive rate of speed, struck the child and woman. Witnesses say Scalco gave no warning of his approach.

THE BAPTIST 75 MILLION CAMPAIGN

Dr. Franklin L. Riley, professor of history in Washington and Lee University, and author of a number of text books in the public school system of the South, delivered an able address at the First Baptist Church yesterday morning, before a large congregation. The topic of the address was "The Trial of the Robbers" and was an exposition of the teaching on Tithing as found in the prophecy of Malachi. The address has been published in tract form, by the committee conducting the Baptist 75 million campaign, and has been sent to more than twenty thousand churches.

Dr. Riley is himself a tither and gave some striking illustrations of great material and spiritual prosperity which attended those who adopted the tithe as a minimum of contribution to the Lord.

The pastor brought very encouraging reports of the progress of the campaign in Virginia, from the recent meeting in Lynchburg. The quota in the state is expected to be exceeded by twenty-five per cent. S. W. Pitts says the campaign locally is going beyond his expectations.

CAMPAIGN FOR RED CROSS

Sale of Christmas Seals Will Begin December 1.

The opening date of the ten day sale of Red Cross Christmas seals is December 1st. The National Tuberculosis Association attributes the great success of the seals in past years to the support given the movement by the press of this country. It asks that this support be continued in order that the greatest educational and preventive campaign ever attempted may be a success.

"Red Cross Christmas seals are the great driving force behind the movement to combat and control tuberculosis," declared Dr. Charles J. Hatfield, Managing Director of the National Tuberculosis Association, today in commenting on the ten day seal sale which begins December 1st for the purpose of raising a fund of approximately $6,500,000 to fight the disease.

SPORTS

Both of Alexandrias crack football teams won their contests yesterday on the Shipyard gridiron, the Virginians defeating the Quentins of Washington, 13 to 0, while the Dreadnaughts romped all over the Army Medicals of Washington, 38 to 0.

The Dreadnoughts had a easy time. The Medicos could not stop the first work of the Dreadnoughts backfield, while the work of Coach Mueller's linesmen was above par. Frazer and Crouch, in the tackle positions, gave a real demonstration of how that position should be played.

Dreyfus and Leveren showed wonderful speed skirting the ends, while the work of Hayden also stood out. "Bull" Trigger also got back in the game, after a long layoff.

Peyton and Jim Alexander played snappy football for the lighter Virginias. Johnny Duncan's work on right end was also way above the average.

Two Games Thursday

Two big games are booked Thanksgiving Day. The Dreadnoughts tackle the 63d Infantry team again, and this time the Soldiers say they are going to humble the big boys. Capt. Redfield, the former West Point end, has been coaching the soldiers for the past two weeks in an effort to trim the locals.

Secretary Tulloch of the Virginia Club has secured the Seminoles to meet the Virginias in a return game. The Seminoles have secured several new men, who have been working with the team for the past week, and the Washingtonians expect to trim the local lads. The first game will start at 1:30 o'clock.

ATLANTA STARTLED BY CRUEL CANARD

Man Circulates Report That President Wilson Is Dead.

MEETING IS DISSOLVED

City Organist Plays "Nearer My God to Thee," While Women Are Sobbing.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 24.—Police of Atlanta are searching today for the man who last night startled a mass meeting at the auditorium, while Vice President Marshall was speaking, by starting a false report that President Wilson was dead. Everybody in the place including Marshall, appeared at first to believe the report.

Marshall was eulogizing George Washington and Abraham Lincoln when a policeman rushed up the aisle and a message was whispered to the Vice President by Charles J. Haden, a prominent Atlantan, that he was wanted on the long distance phone from Washington, as President Wilson had just passed away.

The Vice President staggered then, steadying himself, he raised his hand and said:

"I cannot continue my speech. I must leave at once to take up my duties as Chief Executive of this great nation.

"I cannot bear the burdens of our beloved chieftain unless I receive the full assistance and prayers of everybody in this country."

With that he left the stage. Not a sound was to be heard until Gov. Hugh Dorsey rose and asked that the benediction be pronounced. There was still no sound except sobbing of women.

Charles Sheldon, city organist, started playing, "Nearer my God, to Thee," and the audience began quietly to file out of the building.

As soon as possible Marshall got in communication with the White House, where it was positively denied that the President was dead.

At the terminal station, where Marshall boarded a special train for Washington at 1 o'clock this morning, the Vice President said:

"I am infinitely relieved to know that the President is alive. It was a most cruel hoax to perpetrate on the audience and on me. I trust that the guilty party will be apprehended."

Governor Dorsey announced, on behalf of the state, that a reward of $100 would be paid for the capture of the perpetrator.

The city is expected to take similar action today.

WOMAN BURNS TO DEATH

Oil Heater Sets Fire to Clothes While Victim is Cleaning Coat

Hannah MCracken, 35, was burned to death in her home at 473 E street southwest, Washington, yesterday afternoon, when an oil heater set fire to her clothes.

Heroically endeavoring to save the woman, her sister, Mary McCracken was seriously burned.

The victim of the accident was cleaning a coat in the bathroom. An uncovered oil heater stood near by. As the woman turned to reach for a cake of soap, her dress brushed against the flame of the heater.

A moment later, her clothing a mass of flames, Miss McCracken ran screaming down the stairs to obtain help. The accident had made her hysterical, otherwise she might have plunged herself in the tub, which she had filled with water.

Her sister, attracted by the cries for help, met Miss McCracken at the foot of the stairs. For ten minutes she battled valiantly with the flames, but could make no head way. The injured womn died from inhalation of the flames.

A vain hope that life might not yet be extinct prompted Miss Mary McCracken to call for the Emergency Hospital ambulance. The victim of the fire was rushed to the hospital, where physicians labored over her for half an hour, finally pronouncing her dead.

Miss McCracken's clothing was burned from her body, which itself was badly charred.

Miss Mary McCracken, whose heroic efforts to save her sister's life went for naught, collapsed on hearing the news that her sister was dead. She herself sustained serious burns on her head, face and arms, necessitating treatment by a physician.

TWENTY-FIVE PERISH

Jammed Stairway's Collapse, Drops Girls to Instant Death

Villa Platt, La., Nov. 24.—Crushed and mangled the bodies of twenty-five young men and women have been recovered from the ruins of a dance hall in which fire and panic suddenly stilled the orchestra late Saturday night.

Villa Platte today is a town of mourning. Funerals are being arranged in every section. Crepe hangs at doors on almost every street.

In the center of the town the ruins of the dance hall still are smouldering. Police and firemen are still searching the ruins although it is believed all bodies have been recovered.

The list of dead includes nineteen women and five men, according to the official figures of Coroner Ardoin.

Officials are investigating to determine the cause of the fire which is believed to have resulted from a defective oil heater.

A panic resulted when the cry of fire rang through the dance hall. Dancers, spectators and chaperones rushed pell mell towards a narrow stairway. The stairway became jammed. Crazed with fear men and women fought and trampled to escape. Many leaped from windows.

Then the stairway collapsed. It was at the bottom that firemen found a mangled heap of humanity. Bodies of young girls were crumpled into a heap in their silken gowns.

Within a half hour after the cry of fire echoed through the hall, 10 persons were burned and fifteen crushed to death.

Firemen, police and volunteer rescuers, attracted by the noise and confusion of the fire, worked all night and until early yesterday morning searching the ruins.

THREE MEN KILLED

Clash Between Members of Loyalty League and Labor Agitators

Bogalusa, La., Nov. 24.—Three men were killed, one mortally wounded and several others more or less seriously injured here Saturday in a clash between members of the Loyalty League and a group of labor agitators. The dead are L. E. Williams, president of the local American Federation of Labor and editor of the labor organ, The Press; A. Bouchillon and Thomas Gaines, union carpenters. The wounded include A. J. O'Rourke, labor leader, mortally wounded, and Captain Jules Le Blanc, of the Loyalty league.

The battle was the outcome of the lockout of 2,500 men by the Great Southern Lumber company and a crusade against "undesirables" by the Loyalty League.

The trouble came to a head yesterday when O'Rourke and another labor leader escorted a negro agitator through the main street after he had been ordered to leave town.

The Loyalty leaguers immediately assembled and demanded the surrender of the negro. The labor men barricaded themselves in a garage and refused to give the man up. A shot fired by one of the besieged men drew heavy fire from the attacking force which soon silenced the besieged. While the firing was going on the negro escaped.

RUSH TROOPS TO SCENE

Richmond, Va., Nov. 24.—Accompanied by Governor Westmoreland Davis three companies of State troops including one machine gun company, left here yesterday afternoon at 1:40 aboard a special train for the counties of Lee and Wise in order to prevent trouble among coal miners of that section as a result of difficulties between mine operators and miners.

The departure of the troops resulted from a request of the sheriff of Lee County who wired the governor asking that assistance be sent as soon as possible. No trouble has yet resulted and the action is regarded here as one of preparedness.

The counties of Lee and Wise are among the remotest in the State, lying on the Western border of Virginia, close to Kentucky and Tennessee, in the great mining territory of the State.

Two companies from this city, one a machine gun company and the other infantry were aboard the special train from here and another company of infantrymen was picked up at Petersburg. Three more companies from Lynchburg, Roanoke and Charlottesville will be picked up en route.

INTERESTING PUBLICATION

Hon. R. Walton Moore, now representing the Alexandria district in the House of Representatives, sends us an interesting publication in the shape of a large cloth bound book entitled "A Century of Population Growth in the United States (1790-1900.) Unlike most government publications, this book abounds in much that is extremely interesting, dealing as it does with the history of the country during colonial days and the formation of the present government. At that early period "Alexandria was on the map," as is shown by the frequent mention of our city in the descriptions of roads and the establishment of postoffices. Much useful information concerning manners and customs of one hundred years ago in our own land is given. The book abounds in maps showing conditions hereabouts in bygone years.

Accompanying the publication was a letter to the writer in which reference is made to the fact that he has served nearly fifty-nine years in the newspaper business. Mr. Moore says:

"This is the only copy of this publication I have been able to obtain, and it goes to you with my compliments. I read the other day a notice relative to your long connection with the Gazette, and congratulate you on having rendered the public such fine service in that way, and hope that many years of health and happiness remain for you."

STEEL STRIKE A FAILURE

Few evidences remain that ten weeks ago September 22, a nation-wide strike of steel workers was inaugurated. Stupendous losses have been experienced by the work men, by the steel companies and by the public as the result of the walk out which, after one of the bitterest battles in industrial history, has ended in complete failure for the men who began it.

The steel companies are operating under the handicap of breaking in many men, but each passing day sees improved conditions in this respect.

Reports indicate that there would be almost 100 per cent. operation of steel plants throughout the Pittsburg district if the coal miners had not struck just when the steel plants had reached the final stages of recovery from their own walk-out.

Among the reasons for the collapse of the strike, the radical character of its leadership and the failure to pay promised strike benefits stand out prominently. The pamphlet on syndicalism written by William Z. Foster, secretary treasurer of the National Committee, entered the limelight soon after the beginning of the strike and it became a subject of general discussion, revealing the fact for the first time to thousands of strikers and their sympathizers the kind of man who was managing the gigantic walkout. With this realization there grew among the striking workmen a conviction that they had allowed themselves to be used as tools.

MINERS' DEFIANCE

The fact that the miners—that is the bulk of them—had no intention of obeying the injunction and returning to work as ordered by Judge Anderson in Indianapolis is becoming more and more apparent. It is generally believed the authorities have been bunkoed.

A resident of Lynchburg in a communication to a Baltimore paper among other things says:

"A few figures, taken from Government records, as shown in recent meetings of strike leaders, operators and Government officials, might be of some help in forming a fair and clear idea about this coal strike situation, now fastening its grip upon the comfort and life of the people.

"Of course, figures do not illustrate about a strike which is "called off" but which does not cease. Lewis, the union boss, smiles with satisfaction when questioned about this—doubtless the unions are well satisfied with their handling of the court's injunction orders.

But Government figures show that of $1,300,000,000 worth of coal mined in 1918, the miners received $750,000,000 and the mine owners and operators some $350,000,000, or about half what the miners got. Out of this had to come the taxes, which amounted to some 30 odd cents a ton. A very large—exceedingly large—proportion of what the owners and operators got went into taxes.

"On each ton of coal mined and sold at the average of $2.60 at the mine, the miner got $1.50 and the owner and operator got about $1.10, out of which came this tax of more than 30 cents a ton, or perhaps a net of about 80 per cent, as opposed to the miners $1.50.

Blame is being gradually shifted to the owner and operator and an enormous effort made to put the operator in bad with the public. He is already being blamed with a purpose of shifting the advance in wages, whatever they are, that will be awarded the miners (the poor miners who get only $1.50 out of each $2.60 worth of coal now mined) to the public, and the Government is promising to take steps to see that the owners and operators swallow it. From the figures above it can be seen that from the 0 cents that the owner and operator now gets, if a further increase of even 15 cents a ton only is added to the $1.50 the miner now gets and deducted from the 80 cents the operator now gets, it leaves the miners' demand of 60 per cent. increase in wages would be met, the miner would then get $2.40 out of each $2.60 of coal mined and the owner and operator would get 20 cents."

TRUCKLING TO GERMANY

As soon as the ratification of the Peace Treaty had been defeated a resolution was offered in the Senate declaring the existing state of war between Germany and the United States to be at an end. It was referred to the Foreign Relations Committee and can be reported out when Congress reassembles on December 1.

It is the plain duty of all patriotic Senators, Republicans and Democrats alike, to get together, agree upon a revised ratification resolution and put it through. If they refuse to do this, (it is unthinkable that they should) the first logical step to take would be the passage of the resolution proclaiming peace.

Having thus cut ourselves loose from association with every friendly nation, the next logical step would be to implore the favor of our enemy.

The Treaty of Versailles is one of dictation. But when it came to a treaty between Washington and Berlin, it would be one of humiliation on our part and of defiance on the part of Germany.

With the United States out of the League of Nations, Germany would have little to fear. She would then have attained what she unsuccessfully tried to accomplish throughout the war—separate the United States from France and England. She would move ahead as if nothing had happened; with a sneer on her lips and hatred in her heart. She would hold the whip handle. "Make a treaty with us?" she would say to the United States. "Why, of course—if you will come to Berlin and beg hard enough. But just remember one thing—the boot is on the other leg now. We will do whatever dictating there is to be done."

How does a one hundred per cent American like the picture of Uncle Sam crawling before Germany on his hands and knees?

And having rejected the Treaty, and having deserted our allies, and having made terms with Germany, the next step very naturally would be to seek the good will of Lenine and Trotzky and Red Russia.

If the Senate really contemplates severing all ties and starting the nation off on its own hook and in its own selfish ways, let it go the whole hog while it is about it—kick our friends out of doors and invite our enemies to enter.—(Philadelphia Inquirer.

THOSE WHO EXPECTORATE ON ELECTRIC CARS LOOKOUT!

(Communicated)

In daily commuting between Alexandria and Washington on our electric inter-urban railway line, the Washington-Virginia Railway Co., I have noticed, besides our regular daily mishaps, a very disgusting, and unsanitary habit, a great number of fellowmen commuters are subject to. There is, as I am sure everyone knows, two cars to every train on this line. A front car or motor, where ladies are supposed to ride and also a back car or trailer which is supposed to be used as a smoker, but which is frequently used by ladies seeking seats, that are not available in the front car.

Upon being seated in either car the first thing to attract the attention of the passenger is a notice printed in large letters and hung directly in the front of each. This notice gives an exact copy of the law of Virginia and District of Columbia regarding expectorating in cars. Now, my object in writing this letter is to publicly ask why these laws are not enforced by the conductors of each train?

The cars carrying people to and from work in the early morning and evening and I want to say here especially those leaving for Washington in the early morning are disgracefully unclean from the above mentioned habit and is, I think, an insult to a person's decency to be compelled to ride in such. Men chewing and smoking tobacco, and in many case tobacco not necessarily being the cause, deliberately spit upon the floor to such an extent that it is sickening to myself, a man, to sit in the same seat after them.

I have often wondered what effect it has upon a lady who doesn't necessarily have to ride in the smoker to be bothered by such but generally finds it in the front car. I, myself, have sat in the front car and watched a gentleman, no—I mean a man, sitting in the [illegible] seat with a lady and continuously chewing tobacco and expectorating on the floor. This disgraceful condition in the cars caused by the negligence of those whose power is to enforce laws governing such and by those who are constantly breaking them because they have no respect for womanhood and decency needs to have the prompt attention of the railway officials who should try to abolish such for the sake of at least sanitation.

EAT MORE LAMBS

While Americans are a race of meat eaters they use very little lamb. The average per capita consumption of these meats combined in the United States is only 5 pounds per year against 7 pounds of veal, 61 pounds of beef and 71 pounds of pork. However, the consumers are responsible. Instead of a widespread general use of lamb, we have 25,000,000 people eating more than one half the production and 75,000,000 [illegible] the rest. The section of the country east of Pittsburgh and north of [illegible] ington contains about one fourth of the people in the United States, yet over its market counters passes perhaps seventy-five per cent of the lamb sold in America.

The Southerner orders beef twelve times to lamb once. Quite often the city demand for lamb is of such small volume as to discourage the retailer carrying the meat at all. Such a condition still further inhibits demand, for if a customer is disappointed in not getting the meat when wanted, he soon forgets it altogether. Consequently a new generation has grown up in this country that does not know lamb. There are a few cases where local butchers have stimulated a small uncertain demand, but one of considerable proportions. Wholesale houses in certain cities have doubled their sales in one year through their attention to lamb.

In Olde Virginia
Where Cigarette Tobacco Was born

"There was one young woman, Grace Sherwood by name, who was accused by the Council of using tobacco to practise witchcraft and the black arts. Having been tried by a jury of aged hags, she was found guilty of said charges and condemned to be cast from Nansemond Bluff into the turbulent waters of the James, from which she miraculously escaped by swimming." —Life in Early Virginia.

Virginia-Carolina tobacco is mellowed by sunshine

That homely Southern phrase—"ripened on the hill"—tells how golden Virginia-Carolina tobacco gets its rich mellowness.

It means that Virginia-Carolina tobacco is allowed to ripen thoroughly before cutting.

If you want ALL of that rich mellowness—that sun-ripened Virginia-Carolina flavor—don't smoke it mixed with other tobaccos. Smoke it straight.

Piedmont all-Virginia-Carolina cigarettes will show you the difference.

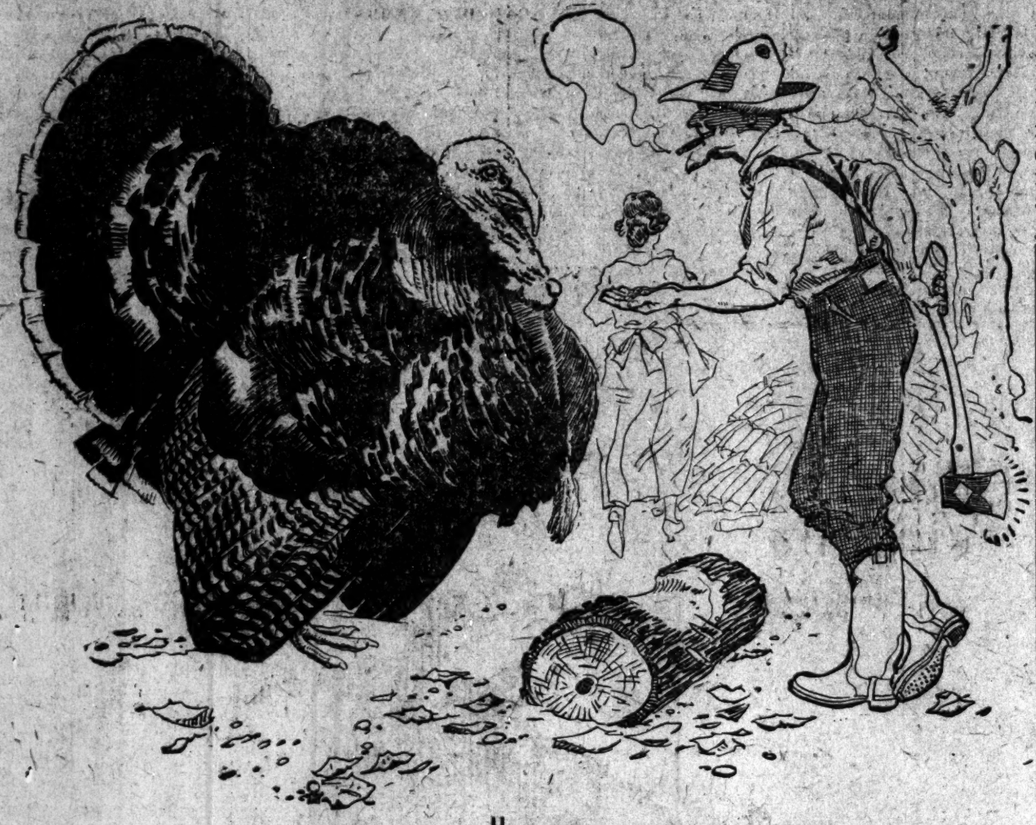
Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Virginia-Carolina Cigarette

Piedmont

NOTE—In England, where Virginia-Carolina tobacco has the preference, a smoker pays as much for it as for the best Turkish tobacco. Because over there both kinds of tobacco pay the same Import duty. But in this country Virginia-Carolina tobacco costs you less than Turkish tobacco because it is grown in this country and, unlike foreign-grown tobaccos, carries no Import duty.

Thanksgiving



None of our holidays of the year carries with it a holier sentiment or is so purely American in its significance as that of Thanksgiving Day. It is consecrated to the American home and carries with it a benediction of gratitude for the blessings of health, peace and contentment which we have enjoyed during the twelve months. No country in the world has so much to be thankful for this year as ours. Where most others are still suffering the results of warfare, famine and desolation America has practically returned to a preawar basis of tranquility. Make the home radiate this condition by supplying for that day the things that reflect comfort, happiness and abundance. Below are some practical and pleasing suggestions.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c.

Zemo is a clean, dependable and inexpensive, antiseptic liquid. Try it, as we believe nothing you have ever used is as effective and satisfying.

TRAINED NURSE FINDS FIRST RELIEF IN 20 YEARS

Feeling Fine at Last and Sure She Will be Permanently Cured. Pays High Tribute to Chasco-Vin

"For the past twenty years I have been troubled with indigestion and an acid stomach. The indication of my trouble was constipation; never a movement without a purgative until my attention was called to Chasco-Vin by the clerks in our leading drug store here.

I have taken three bottles and am feeling fine and have not had to take any other medicie since taking the second bottle of Chasco-Vin.

I have confidence in Chasco-Vin and recommend it because I believe in time it will cure me completely." (Signed) Lillie Hoskins Rhodes, Chester, Pa.
